Solons Resume Operations

By Linda Mugridge

Student government, 1959 style, got under way Monday as the Student Senate met. It continued to roll Thursday, meeting day for both the Student Body and organization presidents.

Topping Senate discussion were the parking problem and student representation at a dinner meeting with Admissions Director Fred Thompson. Pops concert and library hours were touched upon. Junior senator Norm Litzner gave a progress report on the Student Activities Committee.

Parking Problems Pondered

Possibility of shackles being placed on cars of habitual parking violators was discussed. Senate consensus was that this method, which would include a fine for removal of shackles, would be advantageous.

"Something drastic like this will bring the violations home," said Duane Matz, senior senator.

General public relations aspects at Wartburg will be the topic of the dinner discussion meeting with Admissions Director Thompson. Senators chose 12 students to attend the dinner, which was arranged by Thompson.

Dozen Go To Dinner

Those selected are seniors Dennis Dickman, Jan Froelich and Dennis Wessels; juniors Lorraine Johnson and Don Bathgate; sophs Dick Jebsen, Marilyn Brudi and Linda Mugridge; and freshmen Al Putz, Dean Holst, Linda Beneke and Ruth Chatfield.

Pops Concert Chairman Fred Langrock has not received word from the concert booking agency, according to Student Body Pres. Jim Schwarz. In regard to library hours, questionnaires are being sent to all students.

Campus movies and times and places for showing them were brought up by Litzner in his Student Activities Committee report. He also suggested that a place for props, such as the cheesecloth used as Homecoming dance decoration, be set aside on campus.

Tourney Trophy Discussed

Tall Corn Basketball Tourney tropby, won by Wartburg over the holidays, was presented to the school by senior members of the team during the Student Body meeting Thursday. SB Vice President Herb Hafermann accepted the traveling trophy on behalf of Wartburg.

In presenting the trophy, senior Dennis Wessels said, "At this time I extend a challenge to Wartburg teams of the future to win the trophy the next two years, so that it will be a permanent Wartburg possession."

Approximately twenty - two people attended the organizational presidents meeting Thursday night. Financial procedure, duties of advisers and form for constitutional revision were discussed. Other points brought out by presiding officer Schwarz were awards, proposed Handbook revision and distribution of meeting minutes.

Convo Bills Diers

The Rev. Herman Diers of South Burnaby, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, will speak in Tuesday's convo. It will be in the form of a worship service. Thursday's convo has not been decided upon as yet.

Coeds Check Finale'

Bev Schoeman, junior, checks her semester test schedule, while junior Mary Jo Logan records one of those "dates you won't want to miss."

C-Aud. Plans Materialize; Drape Constr. Is Builder

College News Bureau Service

Dreams of a Wartburg chapel-auditorium approached reality while students and faculty vacationed for the holidays.

On Dec. 17 the Building Committee and the Executive Board of the college Board of Regents awarded the general contract for the $375,000 structure to Drape Construction Company of Waverly. The local firm made a low bid of $230,454 to complete the general construction of the building.

Wiring Contract Goes To Locals

Brayton Electrical Company, also of Waverly, received the electrical contract for a bid of $34,947. Mechanical work will be taken care of by Young Plumbing and Heating, Waterloo, for a bid of $49,400.

Total cost of the building, including the architect's fee of six per cent and furnishings, will exceed $375,000. It is expected that the furnishings will cost about $50,000. Woodburn and O'Neil of Des Moines are the architects.

Will Start In Spring, Says Becker

Building construction will begin in the spring when the weather permits, according to Pres. C. H. Becker. The auditorium, an addition to the present Luther Hall, main classroom and administration building, will seat 1,420.

Bids for the chapel-auditorium were let as early as Nov. 19, but the awarding of contracts was held up for further deliberation by college officials.

Extending 32 feet beyond the longest Luther Hall wing, the addition will be five feet higher than the rest of the building. Planned features of the new structure will include a large stage, spacious foyer, balcony and pipe organ.

PHIL WINS PRIZE $5 FOR BALLOON FLIGHT

Phil Williams, freshman from Davenport, won the $5 first prize when the balloon he released at Homecoming was found by Edward Hall, Maroa, Ill., some 270 air miles from Waverly.

Less than 20 of the original 144 sent up were returned to Don Claggett, chairman of the balloon contest, with the majority being found either around Waterloo or in the Decatur, Ill., area.

Vowers Equips Clinton Lounge

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Vowers of Kimball, Neb., have given $5,000 to furnish the lounge in Clinton Hall, which will be named Vowers Lounge in appreciation of this gift.

Previously, Vowers, who is a member of the Executive Committee of the Development Council, and Mrs. Vowers had given $1,000 to help furnish rooms in Clinton Hall.

Debaters Trying Cornell Today

Resolutions of a different sort will be made by Wartburg's debate team as it travels to Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, today for an affirmative and negative tangle.

Robert Smith, debate coach, has prepared the team for a new type of debate, cross-examination.

Jim Eissinger and Dean Engbrecht, juniors, will take up the affirmative cause, while sophomore Deanna Stob and freshman Meta Fokkena negate the question, "Resolved, That further development of nuclear weapons should be prohibited by international agreement."

Orientation Luncheons Set For Seniors

A series of alumni orientation luncheons, to be held at Carver's Restaurant during Sunday evenings in January and February for college seniors has been announced by the Wartburg College Alumni Association.

Purpose of these luncheons is to better acquaint graduates with the program of the alumni association, which they will become part of upon graduation.

Those participating in these luncheons will be the Rev. Martin Ackermann, development director; Pres. C. H. Becker; Miss Jean Pfeiffer, alumni secretary; and the officers of the Alumni Association.

Seegers Gives Books

Dr. Walter Seegers, professor in the Science Department at Wayne University, Detroit, Mich., donated several hundred books to the Wartburg library in the past month.

The gift consists mainly of biographies, a few sets of classics and miscellaneous titles in other fields.

Schick Travels

The Rev. E. A. Schick, college chaplain, attended two meetings at the Union Theological Seminary, New York City, over the holidays.

On Dec. 28 and 29 he attended the meeting of the National Association of Biblical Instructors, and from Dec. 29 to 31 he was at the meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis of Jesus.

Don't Forget Resolutions!

It's resolution time again—

With a company of yawns, the average student probably ponders a January madness to forget every kind of resolution except "Get those semester tests over with!" With semesters only a week away, this could be a plausible argument.

But how about making a few resolutions worth any Wartburg student's time:

● Learn to distinguish between academics and mechanics. How dissatisfying it must be for a student to find that he is a victim of mental consumption. For the price of a grade, he has sold his academic soul. The "old line admiral" ruling of "Pound it in" has forced him to take his place among the intellectual misfits of our time.

● Keep student government on its toes. Nothing reeks more of "high school" than a do-nothing civic assembly on a college level. A small roomful of minds cannot adequately carry on an effective student government program without the whole-hearted interest of the Student Body.

It is frightening to imagine what college would be like without the buffer services performed by our student government officers. If the interest of these officers and senators is stifled among mothballs of indifference, there is little hope of airing out any student-college problems.

● Remember that Salvation starts with you. The need to approach Christianity from the personal standpoint cannot be passed on to "the other guy." The facilities for worship and instruction have always been available at Wartburg, but the greatest facility for personal endowment is in you.

● Don't become just a "somebody." That old college motto cannot be taken at its face value. You might stand pretty high on the organizational level, but fall flat on your face as a constructive, sociable being.

● Remember the price for quitting. Hollow excuses and selfish griping never change anything except you — for the worse.

One of the most difficult things for you to measure is your own personal success in what you do.

It may be childish to post your resolutions on the wall or boast about them to others, but it doesn't seem childish — silently to resolve to do better in the face of a new year.

Steady your sights, gunners! Only seven more days until the big shooting match.

Get out your sunglasses. The post-holiday diamond rush is on.

'Gather Round, Children, For Here's A Fable Of . . .'

Once upon a semester, in the land of Money and Tests, a number of student laborers, having finished their half-year time of employment, made a journey to the local Paymaster.

Upon reaching their destination, breathing sighs of anticipation at the thought of things they might at last buy with their scant wages, they addressed one of the Payclerks with glee.

"We have come for our half-yearly wages," they cried, in blissful anticipation.

"They have been extracted from your Life Bill," was the formal reply.

"But we have worked long and hard for our wages. We can never pay our Life Bills with such small amounts," they pleaded.

"I'm sorry, but you'll have to speak with the Paymaster. I only give money to the deserving ones," the clerk replied.

But the students began to tremble at the thought of facing the Paymaster, and lamenting to each other, they went away sorrowing.

Other student laborers came. Some of them had paid their Life Bills, others had not. Some were given wages and some were not. It was said that many went without because of this sudden ruling.

Soon, many laborers received threats that their Life Bills must soon be balanced or they would be forced out of their rooms. Many revolted inwardly. Some blamed the Paymaster. Others claimed that it was not the fault of the Paymaster, that some higher forces were at work, extracting Life Wages from each and every student, laborer or not.

A great fear swept over the land, and many ran and hid their remaining money, for fear that it would be taken by the Paymaster.

Everyone knew that he would soon be ordered to appear before the Paymaster in order to begin the second half of his yearly labors. Some boasted that they were not afraid. Some began packing their few belongings in hopes of fleeing into the night. Some decided to borrow money elsewhere with which to pay their Life Bills. Some did nothing but sit and lament their troubles.

MORAL

If ye would hear a merry tune, then ye must pay the piper;
For charity, if stretched too far, can become a viper.

Knight Life

By Don Claggett

Here we go again! After two relaxing weeks of vacation, we find ourselves in the same old drag. As we look ahead to Jan. 17, we see the coming of final exams, which mark the end of the first semester and the beginning of a new bill in the treasurer's office.

This situation reminds us of the person who was told to smile, for things could be worse; so he did, and sure enough, things got worse.

"What did you get for Christmas?" is the popular question often asked on campus these days. Here is a classic answer we overheard from a witty frosh, "I kept begging for a foreign convertible, and so my dad bought me a rickshaw."

We are happy to see that Wartburg is on the receiving end once again. Ax Bundgaard and his hoop-men won what we hope is only their first trophy this year by ending up on top in the Tall Corn Tourney.

On the other hand, we are not happy to see the poor student attendance at the home games. Let's back the team which is going to bring Wartburg the Iowa Conference championship.

Flashy! Flashy! Old football heroes never die, they just become singers. Isn't that right, Jack (Mario Lanza) Reents?

Sammy Kaye has the hottest idea since the hoola hoop. He thinks he can make a fortune in TV by producing a new series of childish easterns.

We just found out why the rock and roll performers carry out such a rigid touring schedule — they're trying to earn enough money to study music.

The best of the New Year's resolutions coming our way is the one Knight-lifers use every year: Every New Year's morning they resolve not to celebrate New Year's Eve next year.

Good Knight-Lifing To All!

GOT WANDERLUST?

Student Says, 'Try Europe!'

By Ray Boyens

(Ray Boyens, junior from Harvey, Ill., toured Europe from October to December, 1957. Accompanied by former Wartburger Paul Schlachtenhaufen, now attending the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Boyens geared his trip to an inexpensive level.)

Europe bound?

Here are a few things which might interest you. Let's begin with your passport. You can get it right here in Waverly with less trouble than in your own county or state. Just go to the county courthouse with your birth certificate, two passport pictures and $10.

You must have smallpox vaccination. Typhoid, paratyphoid, tetanus and diphtheria are also suggested. They will cost $15.

Gentlemen, get a draft board release.

International driving permits cost $3 through the Chicago Motor Club. Get it now if you plan to drive while in Europe. I have heard it takes time and money to get this permit in Europe.

Take all your money in American Express Travelers Checks. Get the checks in small denominations. You can cash them anywhere.

Take only one suitcase. Remember, you have to carry it. I shall make suggestions for the boys, so, girls, act accordingly. One sport coat and two pairs of trousers will take you anywhere. Everything should be wrinkleproof.

Do not plan to have anything cleaned if you are staying only a month. One white shirt, one long- and one short-sleeved colored shirt will suffice. All underclothes and socks should be silk or nylon for easy washing. Take a heavy sweater, two pairs of shoes and a light overcoat or raincoat.

Do not join the Youth Hostels. Outside the big cities, comfortable rooms for 50 cents to a dollar a night are easy to find. In the big cities you can stay at the "Y" for $1.50.

Meals are cheap and good: Breakfast, 25c; lunch, 50c; and dinner with wine or beer, $1.25. We liked to stop at the bakery for fresh bread and rolls and the butcher shop for sausage, then eat out in the country.

You will find that the American Express is the first place to go when you come into a new city. It is the best place to have your mail sent. There is no fee for this service.

American Express will help you find a hotel, the type in which you want to stay. In Amsterdam we asked for something which had moderately priced rooms and where we could meet some young people.

Language will present little or no problem. If you are lost, look lost, and someone will be there to help you before you realize it. I learned a few words of German well and it did wonders. "Haben Sie ein billiges zimmer fur zwei?" (Have you a moderately priced room for two?) got us many rooms for 50 cents each a night — with 15 cents extra we ate breakfast.

If you learn to write "room," "eat" and "how much" in French, German and Italian, you can get by. Use a pencil and pad. They all make their numbers the same as we do.

I found the people in the Northern countries — Germany, England and the Netherlands — honest and fair, but in Italy and France, look out! Eating in a Paris sidewalk cafe gets expensive when you have to pay for the table, the bread and water, the wine and the waiter after you pay for what you have ordered. This you do not read on the menu, which may be in English. The waiter takes your order in perfect English and explains the charges on your check in perfect French.

When you arrive in a town like London or Rome or Paris, don't strike out on your own to see the town. Start at the American Express Office. Ask where to get a guided tour. Get on the bus with the rest of the Americans and see the spots of interest. I cannot emphasize this too much. You can always go on your own later.

The young people are easy to get acquainted with. They can show you a good time on very little money. They will invite you to their homes and show you the town just for the enjoyment they get from it. They can show you where to really have fun night-clubbing with the Europeans for nearly nothing or where to get real European meals.

Before I went to Europe I read Poor Man's Guide to Europe by Frank Dodge. I also glanced through all the pamphlets and books I could find on travel in Europe. By the time I left home I was confident I knew what I was doing.

Knights Vanish Redmen 75-69 For No. 3

After a slow start, Wartburg nabbed its third conference win in four starts by downing the Simpson Redmen 75-69 last night on the home floor.

With the lead exchanged, the Knights were able to tie a knot on the score nine times but trailed at intermission 37-33. Guard Denny Wessels poured in twelve points to spearhead the first half attack, while center John Tuecke added seven.

In the second half, the Bundgaard forces hustled back to pull ahead 47-46. From then on, they continued to build the lead but were never completely out of danger until the final two minutes.

6' 7" Tuecke led all scorers with 25 markers. Pivot man Bob Tidgren paced Simpson with 20.

Picking Up Splinters

By Wilbur Flachman

Christmas is over and all the gifts have been given. Knight basketball coach Ax Bundgaard and his cagers made a present to the school in the form of a trophy from the Tall Corn Tourney.

Not rated as a favorite, the Knights nevertheless dominated the holiday affair. They stopped highly touted Northern Illinois in the opening night at Waverly, 71-63, then moved to Cedar Falls to clip the Panthers of Iowa State Teachers College in the finals, 64-61. The Tutors took care of Gustavus Adolphus 85-78 in their bracket of the initial tourney round. Northern romped the Gusties 94-79 in the consolation contest.

Jumpin' John Tuecke swished 28 points through the nets in the Northern contest and pulled 19 rebounds out of the air to register the finest game in his collegiate career thus far. His rebound total was one of the 12 new records established in the three-year-old holiday meet. Three marks were tied.

Gustavus' Owen Wallin meshed 40 counters against TC and added 21 the following evening against Northern to surpass the tourney scoring mark. The Knights' 63 rebounds tied another standard compiled by Mankato State last season.

Dave Jensen led the Knights to win against TC in the championship game with 15 tallies. Tuecke chipped in with 11, which, added to his sterling performance the night before, earned the rangy center a spot on the all-tourney team and a tie for most valuable player with Larry Gentry of Northern Illinois.

Wartburg's thrilling 78-75 overtime win over Grinnell's Midwest Conference powerhouse brought more prestige to the rapidly improving Knights. A controversy occurred in the overtime, after which many fans thought Knight coach Ax Bundgaard was charged with a technical foul.

Referee Bob Clem called face guarding on center John Tuecke and immediately indicated that Grinnell center Bill McClintock be awarded a basket. Bundgaard was on his feet in protest when the other striped-shirt official, Jim Butler, cited the rule book and called a technical foul on Wartburg. The actual foul was against Tuecke and not the Wartburg team or coach as fans were led to believe.

Just a little more football. Honors came to tackle Ron Krueger before Christmas when he won mention in Williamson's All-American ratings. And the Wartburg grid team was ranked only 11th among 30 Lutheran colleges and universities in the United States.

We heard (unofficially of course) that someone elected an outstanding floor man for the Tall Corn affair. The winner — Wartburg's Walt Raney of course. We expect to see veteran Walt get the nod as the Iowa Conference's best again this season.

Pic In Motion!

Due to the difficulties which would arise in using the gym, the campus movie will again be held in the Little Theater. The screen will be moved farther back on the stage, thereby relieving the eyestrain for those persons sitting in the front rows. It is reported that the movie will again be presented with Hi-Fi sound.

"Hell Below Zero" is the name of the feature.

Why the man who hires you will ask if you own life insurance:

When you apply for a job, one of the questions usually asked is, "Do you own life insurance?"

A well-known personnel director explains it this way. "We always ask whether a man has life insurance, and we ask how much he owns. Why? Because the answer gives us a pretty good idea whether the fellow is well-organized, is handling his financial affairs wisely, and planning for both his own and his family's future.

"If we find a man with a wife and two small children and a thousand dollars of insurance, we wonder why he's taking such long chances."

This shows one reason why so many young men today are making Lutheran Brotherhood life insurance a basic part of their financial planning. Lutheran Brotherhood—with low-cost plans such as the Brotherhood Provider—makes it easy to avoid the risk of putting a severe burden on your parents, family or dependents. The low cost also makes it easy to start building your insurance program right now while still in college. This means you can have full protection throughout the years of heaviest family responsibilities, and then at retirement get back every premium dollar, plus a substantial gain on your investment.

Talk to your Lutheran Brotherhood representative about the advantages of beginning your insurance program early, when the rates are lowest—or write for details on Lutheran Brotherhood policies.
